

Helpful Dental Tips

At Home

Start good dental habits when your child is young.

Limit the amount of sugar and sweets your child eats and drinks.

Schedule dental checkups for your child every six months or as recommended by your dentist.

Talk about your child's first visit in a good way.

For Babies

Good oral health starts before birth. Keep your own mouth clean and healthy. It will help protect your baby's oral health.

Before your baby's teeth come in, clean their gums with a clean damp cloth after meals and at bedtime.

You should stop using a bottle to feed your baby between 9 and 12 months of age.

At the Dentist

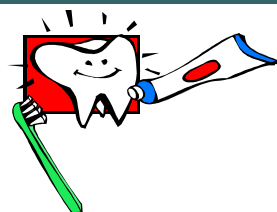

Your child's regular dental care may include:

Regular exams (checkups)

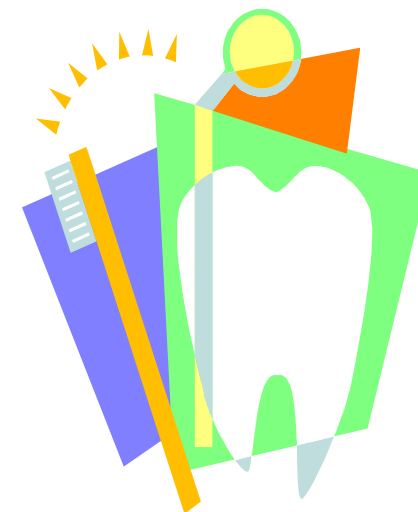

Cleanings

Fluoride
